ALLIES ARE WAITING FOR NEW ATTACK

BRITISH PREDICT THAT NEW OFFENSIVE WILL OPEN BEFORE LONG.—MARKED LULL IN FIGHTING.

PLANS ARE COMPLETED

Allied Airmen Return With Information That Preparations for New Offensive Are About Completed.

With the British Army in France.—The allies are still waiting for Field Marshal Hindenburg to show his hand but to date he has seen fit to remain quiet regardless of the weather that has favored the western front for the past few days. The Germans continue to remain inactive in their sun-baked defenses and if it were not for the rumbling of the artillery and a cloud of dust on the road it would be hard to realize that there was a war being fought.

Notwithstanding this there has been no relaxation of the caution that has been taken along the line and it is realized that the enemy may strike at any moment. There is no doubt that another big offensive is being prepared and the time necessary for preparations has about run its course.

The delay is an added indication that the next German push will be one of great magnitude. The allies may be the crucial one of the war and the Germans will use all their power to smash the Allies' line.

Airmen Active.
While the infantry was comparatively inactive today the airmen on both sides have been extremely busy. At daybreak this morning "Archie" shells began screaming skyward toward hostile planes and ever since German aviators have been making good use of the brilliant sun to reconnoiter and take photographs. The allied airmen have been pursuing their steady and relentless work over the German lines.

Beginning of End.
If the Germans again fail to achieve their objective the defending forces will easily drive them back. If they fail to gain it is the belief that they have played their last card and it will be the beginning of the end.

United States Main Factor.
With steadily growing power the allies will be able to resume the offensive and regain the land overrun by the invaders. The United States has been ready to do its part in putting in the finishing blow. Great confidence on the part of officers of the allies is shown in the American army.

Bomb Factories.
In spite of determined opposition by German airplanes, British aviators on Thursday dropped bombs on the railroad station at Saarbrücken in German Lorraine, starting a fire on the railway. After bombing the town the British aviators then turned their attention to the enemy's air bases.

Official Statement on Aerial Activity.
Issued last midnight, destroyed five enemy machines. One of the British airplanes was lost.

Artillery Active.
Allied and German gunners are harassing the opposing lines with shell fire and this fighting continues most marked on the front north of Flanders and near the Somme in Picardy. It has been the general policy of the Germans to provide strong infantry attacks with a few hours of intense artillery fire. The enemy fire has not as yet reached its highest pitch. It is certain, however, that German preparations for another big offensive have been about completed.

Airmen Victorious.
Recently British and French airmen have been fighting with little opposition and have been dropping bombs on railway stations and military centers at will. On the enemy airmen have been more active and have attempted bombing raids as well as preventing our bombers from carrying on their work.

Forty-six German machines have been reported accounted for and forty others have been completely destroyed. Berlin, on the other hand, claims the destruction of thirty-five.

British airmen on Thursday dropped bombs on Saarbrücken in German Lorraine, causing at least one fire. The British then attacked and downed five of the machines while losing one of their own.

INFASTRY SILENT.—There has been no infantry activity on any of the fronts from the North Sea to the Mediterranean. The American and British artillery in Picardy have again opened fire in Montdidier.

The success in gaining Mt. Corne has been followed by an operation against Mt. Asson. In these two places are the main objectives on the Italian battle front.

Admiralty Says Submarines Reached Baltic by Two Routes

London, May 17.—Yesterday the seven British submarines destroyed by the crews at Heligoland to prevent their being captured by the Germans reached the Baltic sea either through the strait between Denmark and Norway or Sweden or by the way of Archangel according to admiralty statement. The Class E boat took the other route the statement says. "Of the submarine meeting two of the E boats have been employed in the Baltic sea since October 5, 1914. These both made their way to their destination through the skaw and the sound." The C boat had been towed to Archangel leaving England on August first, 1916. They were loaded on to lighters at the latter port and removed to Cromstedt by inland water transport.

KANSAS CITY MAN ON THE WAR LABOR BOARD

Washington, May 17.—Wm. P. Harvey of Kansas City today was appointed joint field representative of national war labor board. He was selected by Frank P. Walsh, one of the joint chairmen of the board. Former president Taft the other joint chairman will select the second field representative. Mr. Harvey is publisher of the American Oil Journal and former managing editor of Kansas City Post.

FOOD ADMINISTRATOR IS PRACTICING OWN THEORY

Washington, May 17.—Food Administrator Hoover practices what he preaches only in food conservation, but in other measures. Today he sold his large automobile, which he had given to his chauffeur. He said: "I changed not think of withholding a man who should be building ships."

THREE ARMY DESERTERS CAPTURED IN ENGLAND

London, May 17.—Three deserters from the army were arrested amidst the Yorkshire cliffs today, being found in a cozy dugout they had constructed. The officers found them armed with a machine gun and steel helmets lying about. The men had used their bayonets to kill wandering sheep for food.

American Soldiers Are In Training Near Front Line

Germany opposite the American sector are resorting to the use of internal machines in an effort to check the activity of the American patrol, numbers of which go out at night and roam over No Man's Land and part of German land. They roam the majority of the time virtually at will. A member of the patrol yesterday stopped on a harmless piece of wire and a bomb exploded in front of the group. It had been planted by the enemy.

VIENNA HOLDS THAT PROJECTED EXTENSION OF AUSTRIAN GERMAN ALLIANCE SHOULD BE IN CONSTITUTIONS

Amsterdam, May 17.—There is a remarkable difference between the views from Berlin and Vienna regarding the scope of the projected extension of the Austro-German alliance. Whereas the Berlin version of the pact, according to the Cologne Gazette, denied the alliance to be embodied in the constitution of the allied empire, direct advice from Vienna on the same day affirm the contrary, positively declaring such embodiment to be part of the program.

Martial Law Has Been Proclaimed By Austrian Head

London, May 17.—Martial law has been proclaimed in Austria, according to the Austrian commandant at the request of the Germans, according to Berlin advices forwarded to the Exchange Telegraph company from Amsterdam. Street fighting is reported at Kiev. Austrian patrols are in the streets day and night and thousands of persons are fleeing from the city. Berlin expects to receive 150,000 sheep and 50,000 pigs shortly from Rumania and 100,000 tons of cereals in July or August.

CASUALTY LIST SHOWS SIXTEEN KILLED

Washington, May 17.—The casualty list today contains 106 names, divided as follows: Killed in action 18; died of wounds 6; died of disease 4; died of gas wounds 1; wounded severely 12; wounded slightly 50; missing in action 1.

FIFTH WINTER OF WAR NOW CERTAIN

Berne, Switzerland, May 17.—(British admiralty via wireless press).—In a speech before the Wurttemberg Diet, Herr Haussmann, one of the leaders of the progressive party, said a fifth winter of war was now inevitable. Germans must make up their minds to face disappointment instead of obtaining the victory hoped for during the summer.

AUSTRIAN WOMEN NOW ENLISTED IN THE ARMY

Berne, May 17.—Austrian newspapers are exhibiting concern of what they call the "effeminization" of the army. It appears thirty-six thousand women and girls now are employed in the auxiliaries as clerks, servants, etc., and others are being enlisted at the front. The new organization was sent into the field.

London, May 17.—The House of Commons adjourned yesterday until May 23rd, without any signs of taking up the long delayed Irish home rule bill. Apparently the members of the bill will be introduced.

COUNTERFEITER SHORTAGE ANOTHER RESULT OF WAR

Washington, May 17.—The war has caused a shortage even of counterfeiters. The spurious ten-dollar note, the fashioning of which was the favorite indoor sport of a group of skilled imitators, has practically disappeared. It was said today by secret service operatives, who are inclined to the belief that the slump is directly due to the war. It was thought that the foreign members of these bands had been rounded up in the mobilization of reservists, and that the Americans had been taken in the draft. However, secret service operatives are not resting on their laurels. They are recognizing the possibility of new talent appearing almost at any time, they are continuing to subject the nation's paper currency to the closest scrutiny.

PORTLAND VOTING TODAY ON RETURN OF JETNEYS

Portland, Ore., May 17.—Whether the jetneys shall come back is the question being voted on in Portland today at a special election, asking the approval of the people for the return of jetneys to the streets under a bond of $1,000 for each car. With memories of a winter spent paying six-cent fares, motorists are expected to approve the measure.

LEADS BRITISH ARMY AT YPRES

St. Clairsville, Ohio, May 17.—A special coach, carrying forty-two Turks, arrived here this morning from Holloway in charge of deputy sheriffs sent from here last night after word came that the men alleged to be actively pro-German, had made an attempt to take up the Baltimore and Ohio railroad tracks through the town. The men, who have been in the holloway for some time, are said to have repeated anti-American expressions last evening, saying that they wished the Kaiser would come through the town and wipe out the place.

BOOSTING FARM LOAN ACT IN SOUTH TODAY

Montgomery, Ala., May 17.—Myron A. Waterman, special assistant in charge of the organization for the farm loan bank, has started a drive throughout the south. American Aviator Receives War Cross For Downing Machine

London, May 17.—American aviators in the sector North-west of Toul brought down another German airplane this morning. Full details of the action have not been received, it appears, however, that Lieutenant Edward Rickenbacher of Columbus, Ohio, answering an alarm shortly after daylight, encountered three enemy planes, attacked and shot one down three kilometers inside the enemy line. Lieutenant Rickenbacher, former auto racer, was decorated with the French war cross on Wednesday. He assisted in bringing down a German airplane in enemy territory two weeks ago.

MACHINE GUN PROVES THE MOST EFFICIENT WEAPON USED IN WAR

London, May 17.—The machine gun used in the present war, the machine gun has unquestionably proved itself the most efficient, says a British expert in the Daily Mail. The machine gun has been the cause of the war have been caused by this weapon; certainly the greater proportion of the enormous losses during the fighting have been caused by machine guns.

There are several types of machine gun now in use in the British army, such as the Lewis, the Maxim, the Vickers, and the Hotchkiss. The machine gun has with it a squad of about ten men. Should they find themselves pressed too closely, they take up their weapon, fall back with it, and re-open fire upon the enemy from the next favorable position.

One authority has declared that in the field one machine gun is worth almost a whole battalion of men. It is a fact that soldiers can keep up fifteen rounds per minute rapid-fire with a rifle, but a machine gun can discharge 600 rounds in a minute, and the rate of fire is unchangeable, 600 rounds without stopping. Bullets pour from the muzzle in a rapid devastating stream, and as these guns use the same kind of ammunition as a rifle, there is little difficulty in keeping them fed.

The Lewis gun is described as the most mobile. One man fires it, using forty-seven rounds in succession. The Lewis gun is a portable machine gun, and can be fired either from a tripod or a parapet, the gunner placing his shoulder as he pulls the trigger.

The Maxim and Vickers guns are fired from a tripod, the gunners standing behind the legs, and the gunner pressing a key as long as the gunner keeps his finger on the key the gun continues streaming out bullets as the belts, each holding 250 rounds, are fed into the gun. The gunner handles with both hands, the gunner moves his weapon back and forth, playing upon the advancing troops much as a machine gunner would play upon a building. Guns of this kind can also be used for putting by barbed wire, and it is possible to attack with them targets one cannot see.

MANY RECRUITS NEEDED FOR MERCHANT MARINE

Washington, May 17.—The sea is calling again to American youth. As the new ships of the merchant marine are built, the need for men grows more pressing. Abundant opportunity to aid in winning the war is offered the crews of the new ships. The government is now recruiting men for the merchant marine. The need for men grows more pressing. Abundant opportunity to aid in winning the war is offered the crews of the new ships. The government is now recruiting men for the merchant marine.

Recruiting of the boys and men who must go down to the sea if America is to regain her old place among the maritime nations is in the hands of the shipping commission, which is headed by Henry Howard, with headquarters at Boston, who has outlined to union men and steamship companies what already has been accomplished.

"About a year ago we realized the shortage that was going to arise when the new fleet was finished," Mr. Howard said, "and we started the recruiting campaign. We have now a list of 10,000 men who have volunteered for the merchant marine. We have now a list of 10,000 men who have volunteered for the merchant marine."

"We have turned out officers so fast that a great many have not been finding positions in the merchant marine, and have gone into the navy. It has been to a certain extent, a short cut to a commission in the navy, going through our schools, owing to lack of cooperation in many of the steamship companies in taking these men on. We believe, however, in view of the action that was taken by the American Steamship association some weeks ago that this will now be straightened out, and that we will get the places."

IMPORTANT BILL UP FOR VOTE MAY 20

LEADERS OF BOTH SIDES OF AIRCRAFT PROBE BILL AGREE NOT TO BRING IT UP UNTIL MONDAY—WILSON OPPOSED TO BILL

Washington, May 17.—President Wilson's unswerving opposition to the Chamberlain resolution, which by an inquiry into the aircraft situation the President considers the proposed general investigation of the conduct of the war, prevailed in the senate today when leaders of both sides agreed not to bring the resolution up until Monday, and meanwhile regards some sort of compromise likely.

President Wilson's request for details of the conduct of the war, resolution of Senator Chamberlain of Oregon proposing broader authority for the senate military committee to conduct inquiry into aviation, ordnance and other army operation, supported in a minority report on the resolution filed today by Senator Thompson of Kansas, chairman of the senate expenditures committee. The minority report states there is no objection to full exercise by military committee of its proper inquisitorial authority, but referred to the appointment of Chamberlain's committee to investigate the aviation situation as assurance of "full and complete investigation."

WOULD CAUSE DELAY

Many Powers Granted. Regarding the senate's inquisitorial power proposed in the Chamberlain resolution the minority report said: "It must be noted that the resolution not only gives authority to, but also directs the military affairs committee. It is evident that the numerous investigations specified will cause great annoyance and interference with the necessary work of the department to attempt to answer the requirements which may be made upon it. Under the terms of the resolution many of the time of its officers and employees would be required."

IS NOT OPPOSED

President Wilson today authorized Secretary Tumulty to deny that he is opposed to aircraft investigation. He is not opposed to aircraft investigation, he would not explore the hearts of congressmen.

COMPULSORY MARRIAGE FAVORED IN GERMANY

London, May 17.—The German commission appointed to examine the decline in birth rate in Germany before their twentieth year is passed, according to a dispatch to the Daily Express from a German source, would be granted by the state, according to this plan, which provides a penalty for those failing to comply. The plan is to encourage the marriage of married couples who remain childless.

LABOR LEADER FAVORS BIG PEACE CONFERENCE

London, May 17.—A suggestion that the United States might ask Holland to take the initiative in calling on the allied governments to confer at The Hague, was given today by a preliminary to the third Hague peace conference, was made by George Nigoll Barns, labor member of the war cabinet, without having discussed the question of a league of nations last night. He expressed hope that another Hague peace conference would be held after the war. An allied conference at The Hague, he said, could be held without slackening efforts to break the Germans, and in fact, "might even induce Germany to respect her position in the world."

FAREWELL RECEPTION GIVEN REV. MAHONEY

SIX HUNDRED PEOPLE GATHER AT ARMORY TO BID FAREWELL TO DEPARTING PRIEST—LEAVES FOR MONCHES, WIS.

M. G. JEFFRIS SPEAKS

Gives Interesting Address at Reception Last Evening—George S. Parker Also Addresses Assembly.

About six hundred citizens of this city gathered at the armory last evening to bid farewell to Rev. Mahoney, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's church, who leaves this week for his new parish at Monches, Wis. It was the greatest farewell reception ever held in this city and the large gathering was not confined to the members of St. Patrick's church, but citizens of all creeds were in attendance.

Rev. Mahoney, who for the past six years has been assistant pastor of St. Patrick's church, has been called to Monches, Wis., as a pastor. He has many friends in this city, although they regret to see him leave. He is a man of high character and has been a great help to the church and the community.

The program opened with St. Patrick's choir singing "Some-where a Voice is Calling." The number was well received and the choir was forced to respond to the applause.

George S. Parker, the next speaker on the program, told of the friendship of the many business men of this city with Father Mahoney. He told of the community work that Father Mahoney had been doing in the last six years. He spoke of how the members of St. Patrick's church but to all of the residents of this city and paid a fitting tribute to Rev. Mahoney when he stated that it was the greatest sorrow to the whole community that Father Mahoney was leaving Jamesville. He told of how it was no small honor to have the respect of the entire community in which a person lives.

Miss Katherine Scholler gave a very interesting reading which was well received and which caused a good deal of comment by M. G. Jeffris later in the evening.

Robert Stevens rendered "Keep the Home Fires Burning," which was well received. For an encore he rendered "A Long, Long Trail."

Rev. Olson of St. Mary's church then spoke a few words wishing Father Mahoney Godspeed. He also spoke of his association with Rev. Mahoney for the past twenty years and in closing congratulated him on going a step higher in his career.

Mr. Jeffris kept the audience in a continued uproar. In closing, Jeffris told of the work of the third grade class and stated that of all his workers Rev. Mahoney stood among the leaders. He told of how he had given his time to the school and how he had been a great help to the school.

Rev. McDermott of Evansville, a classmate of Father Mahoney, told of the popularity of him while he was in college, and on behalf of the citizens of Evansville he bade farewell to his former classmate.

Dean Reilly of St. Patrick's church told of the wonderful work that Rev. Mahoney has been doing in the past six years and in what perfect harmony the two priests have been working. He told of the achievements of the departing member and stated that while it was with regret that Father Mahoney was leaving, he was happy to see him take another step in his career.

On behalf of the citizens of Jamesville, Dean Reilly then presented Rev. Mahoney with a purse. He then presented him with another purse donated by the St. Patrick's church.

Rev. William Mahoney then spoke a few words of farewell to the audience and told of the fine co-operation of Jamesville. He told of how he has never hindered with his work in this city and that he was sure that he has developed wonderfully during the past six years.

The program closed with the audience singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

Knights of Columbus Attention: There will be a special meeting of Carroll Council, Knights of Columbus, in their rooms tonight at 7:45, to make arrangements to attend the funeral of the late Brother B. Nelson. All members are urged to be present. W. H. McGuire, grand knight.

Called to City: Zachariah Clayton, state superintendent of the Milwaukee Humane society, is spending a few days in the city, being called here by the president of the Rock County Humane society.

W. O. W. Meet: Regular meeting of W. O. W. Camp No. 127 will be held at Caledonia hall Saturday evening, May 18th. There will be a large number of candidates. Jas. Bowie, clerk.

SIGNAL DETACHMENT IN CITY TODAY ON WAY BACK TO CAMP

Detachment From 161st Artillery Brigade, Is Ordered To Report Back To Camp—May Go To France

Fifty national army men and their officers, composing a detachment from companies A and B of the 161st artillery brigade, passed through this city this morning enroute to Camp Grant, where they were ordered to report. This detachment is passing through Jamesville yesterday morning on the 161st artillery brigade, but last night they were ordered to return at once to Camp Grant for further orders.

What the further orders are, neither the officers or the men know, but in statements this morning they said that they had hopes that they would be sent "over there" to France. The orders received stated that the detachment must report at the camp on Monday so that it could follow the main route back to camp at that time.

Mr. H. H. Bliss
Cape Jamesville Gazette,
Jamesville, Wisconsin.

Dear Sir: This committee in session yesterday voted unanimously to extend to you an appreciation of the very low figure made on the printing and other work pertaining to the War Fund Campaign, which we realize means execution of the work without profit to you.

Also for the splendid co-operation in the matter of publicity connected with the campaign, the committee wishes to thank you.

Yours very truly,
EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF WAR FUNDS COMMITTEE,
H. E. Bailey, Sec'y.,
May 15, 1918.

Executive Committee of War Funds Com. H. E. Bailey, Sec'y.,
Beloit, Wisconsin.

Dear Sir: On behalf of this Company the writer desires to acknowledge your pleasant letter written under date of May 12, and to say that we feel that our duty is quite clear in regard to this war. We shall continue to offer our services to the best advantage of the matter in hand and to do all that we possibly can in line with the activities of other patriotic men.

Yours very truly,

POLITICS IN WAR.

"While the stock market, with its usual shrewd estimate of the value of news, paid no attention to the report from Ottawa that the American army in France was to be reorganized and held back under separate command, the report is suddenly dangerous to its worth," says an eastern exchange. "It set us a proposal of an independent American army, to be kept in the background till the last man was trained, in direct defiance of the international agreement on a single French commander in chief, with the use of American soldiers with their own equipment, and the best advantage, whether brigaded with the British or the French."

"A study of the career of Sir Frederick Maurice, now a retired major general of the British army, will probably make clear the source of this rumor, which undoubtedly is being spread through official channels. Although Maurice has retired from the army, his influence is still potent in the war office for food and interesting reasons. No man has seen more service, from Woodley's Ashanti campaign to the present war. He had many well-earned medals and decorations, but beside this he was one of the most brilliant staff college men in the army. His works upon war and military history are well known at West Point, and, furthermore, it is important to remember that he was for some years the most important and popular lecturer upon military history in the British military schools. He had, therefore, much to do with forming the minds of officers of that type which commissioned the brilliant little party, now practically extinct, which Kaiser Wilhelm mistakenly supposed he could walk over."

"Maurice's comparison of Peche to Blucher, with Halk in the role of clumsy English tactlessness, little as Maurice liked the idea of a French commander in chief. But the message sent over to Ottawa probably came from one of his war office disciples, who could only see the politics of his party in the war office, which is bitterly opposed to Lloyd George, and not the necessity for the recognition of personal opinion to the one end of which the war. This understanding naturally argued that so brilliant a soldier, practical and theoretical, as Maurice must necessarily know more about war than a little Welsh attorney."

"It is satisfactory that the report was so promptly denied by Lord Reading and Secretary Bucker, and the British war office, under the plea of 'mistake.' It was all that, as it gave a deliberate black eye not only to Lloyd George and General Peche, but to the administration here, which was largely concerned in unifying the command in France. The British war office is fertile in mistakes, but it is to be hoped there will be no more like this. Nothing could play the German game better."

GOING SOME.

There is a bit of a lesson that United States Senator Howard, of Ohio, and the other Virginia relatives, that shows the absurd red tape of the system called into existence by the medical department of the army choosing men for the enlistment for service.

A mountain youth visited a recruiting office in Senator Sutherland's state with the intention of enlisting in the regular army. The doctor in charge looked over the applicant and found him sound as a dollar with one exception.

"Sorry," said he to the young man, "but I'm afraid I'll have to turn you down. You've got flat feet."

Crestfallen, the mountaineer looked down at his extensive pedal extremities. "No way at all for me to get in, then?" he asked.

"I think not. With those flat feet of yours, you wouldn't be able to march over five miles."

The young man pondered for a moment. At last he said: "I guess I'll tell you what makes me so mad about this. Here I've walked high on to 115 miles over the mountains to get here and now, gosh, how I hate to walk back!"

THE PLAYGROUNDS.

Even though these are war days appropriations should be made for the continuation of the public playgrounds and the swimming beach. They are just as essential today as they were when first established and more so in view of the fact that they have been in existence for several years past and have become one of the essentials to the life of the city. The cost of maintaining these two departments are not so great but they can be accomplished and it is hoped the council will see fit to continue them as in the past. The apparatus is all ready, the initial expense of the swimming beach is paid, and while there will of course be some repairs needed the value to the public should be well spent. Of course we must economize these war days, but these are not luxuries, and necessities are permitted.

WISE MOVEMENT.

President Wilson has declared the critics who sought to have the investigation of the various war activities investigated by congress, by naming Judge Hughes, his republican opponent at the last national election, as assistant investigator of his own administration inquiry. The plain words he has drawn the teeth of the serpent and made this delay in the production of aeroplanes a national, not a partisan matter. It is a wise move and well taken.

While the conservators are about it they might save all that broad expanse of four-in-hand necktie that is so carefully concealed under your vest.

The men are taking hold to help make surgical dressings in many places, and several casualties are reported among those that attempt to handle their wives' sharp scissors.

So far none of these men who sell out their liberty bonds a few days after buying them, have given up their bond buttons.

The people who won't contribute to the Red Cross might like it to be lying wound up in No Man's Land, with no stretcher-bearers to pick them up.

Before setting that smudgy bonfire in your back yard, it is the correct thing to notify your neighbors to put out their gas masks.

We are not running an experiment station to develop the best munitions for some future war, but to provide weapons for this war.

It is denied that there is no place for pacifists in this country, as the insane asylums are a thoroughly appropriate place for them.

Nothing new about those sheep pasturing on the White House lawn, as Wall Street has had a great flock of lambs for many years.

It is denied that this is not an efficient country, as in some places the burglars are operating with automobiles and ladders.

Up to date the congressional committee that is investigating the war work has failed to lay in the usual stock of whitewash.

The Russians are now having to give up all their food to the German brothers that used to love them so much.

Who's Who In Today's News

ALVEY AUGUSTUS ADEE. The curb which the war put on social functions in the capital made not a whit of difference to Alvey Adee—the heir of Washington.

Adee is the dean of the assistant secretaries of state in point of age and experience, and is perhaps the most picturesque man in the government service. He is seventy-six and has served the state department for more than forty years.

He was born in Astoria, N. Y., in 1842 and was appointed secretary to the Marine Corps in the United States navy. Adee possesses great mentality, a store of experience, has traveled over most of Europe and still he lives in a remoteness from the social life of the capital which stamps him almost a hermit. He is partially deaf and carries a speaking tube to catch any new voice or strange articulation.

Even when traveling and for years he has spent his summers in some quiet part of Europe—he goes alone on a bicycle. There is hardly a part of France, England or Spain he has not yet visited.

A LITTLE SLICE OF LIFE.

The kid, who is six years old, has been hungry for war news lately. Every time the paper comes he wants to know all about it.

But wants whole columns read. And he listens, all attention. And criticizes troop movements and reads the doctor's suggestions. "What's the big idea?" we asked. After we had read every scrap of war news.

To him after dinner. "I'm just keeping track of my investment," he said.

Said he, "I have got money in this war."

I bought a quarter's worth of their stamps last week with the money.

I got for taking castor oil."

Made a great discovery yesterday. In a movie theater a picture was being shown which called for the showing of two letters in longhand—one from her to him and one from him to her.

The handwriting was different. This is the first time such a thing has ever happened, in our recollection.

A soldier at Camp Dix sends in this one.

A recruit was kicking about the coffee. He said it was full of sand. "You love your country, don't you?" howled the mess sergeant.

"You know it!" replied the recruit. "Then you ought to be willing to eat a little of it."

There are too many temperamental folks in this country who continue to take a Teutonic view of a marriage contract. They claim it is only a scrap of paper.

The other day an actor in New York sued for divorce because his wife hadn't spoken to him in four months. The lady had fifteen offers of marriage the next day.

If 5,000 men die on the slope and three reach the top, it is a great German victory.

It takes a large amount of efficiency to win a war that way.

We have a friend who is too old to go to war, but he claims to be an ace. He has already swatted five flies.

A simple-minded soldier at the front wrote a letter asking for $50 and addressed it to "The Good Lord, care Y. M. C. A., France." His letter was so appealing that the boys in the Y. M. C. A. got up a subscription and raised $25 and sent it to him. He acknowledged the money thankfully, but in his postscript he said: "Good Lord, in case you send me any more money, don't let it come through the Y. M. C. A., as the last time they held out $25 on me."

Dear Sir—The young man who is waiting on me is in the army, and since he has been a corporal he roars at me like a sea lion when he calls. What shall I do? MARIE D. Chuck him a fish.

Just Folks

THE FINEST FELLOWSHIP.

There may be finer pleasures than just tramping with your boy. And better ways to spend the day, there may be sweeter joy. There may be richer fellowship than that of son and dad. But if there is, I know it not; it's one I've never had.

Oh, some may choose to talk with kings and men of pomp and pride. But as for me, I choose to have my youngster at my side. And some may like the rosy ways of grown-up pleasures glad. But I would go a-wandering with just a little lad.

Yes, I would seek the woods with him and talk to him of bees, and learn to know the birds a-wing and hear their melodies. And I would drop all worldly care and be a boy awhile. Then, hand-in-hand come home at dusk to see the mother smile.

Grown men are wearisome at times, and self-pleasures dull. But some and dads throughout the world the truest comrades are. So when I want a perfect day with every joy that's fine, I spend it in the open with that little lad o' mine.

Computing Time in Greenland. Up in Greenland, where the nights are six months long, the time-table makes no difference on the score of daylight saving. "What time do you have breakfast?" asked the traveling man at the Greenland hotel. "From half-past March to quarter of May," answered the urbane clerk.

A Feature Missing. The moving picture business probably will never reach its zenith in the smaller towns until some device is perfected by which jokes may be sprung on the more prominent local bachelors in the course of the play, as the old theatrical troupes used to do.—Kansas City Star.

It was at his suggestion that Gov. Hobbs recommended to the legislature the enactment of a law which prohibited the sale of intoxicating liquors within a radius of ten miles where soldiers are stationed or in training. For this he has been severely criticized by the saloon element.

BIBLE PICTURE QUERY—51

Who Was the First Judge According to the Bible?

Curious and Unusual Bible Questions

Look at the picture above, then turn to your Bible and find the answer to the question. The picture illustrates the verse in which the answer will be found. Each week we will publish an illustrated question from the Bible and the following week publish the answer. See if you can find the answer before we publish it! Make a family pastime of this interesting feature—it will amuse and instruct you.

Last Week's Question and the Answer

Last week's query: "What chapter and verse in the Bible gives the Guide to Heaven in three words?" This is answered in St. John, Chapter 5, Verse 39: "Search the scriptures: for in them ye think ye have eternal life: they are they which testify of me."

Persian Bridal Customs.

The Persian bridegroom is obliged to give a certain sum of money. In addition to other presents. If he is in moderate circumstances he gives his bride two complete dresses, a ring and a mirror. He also supplies the furniture, carpets, mats, culinary utensils and other necessities for their home.

But Two Added Letters

"Oh, dear!" exclaimed Immogene, who lives with her very strict Aunt Priscilla, "I wonder why it is that puritanical people are nearly always so puritanical!"

Cut Oiling Program.—Superior, May.—High prices and scarcity of oil have hit the street improvement program in this city. Because of this only the principal streets in this city will be oiled this summer and the old practice of sprinkling the streets with water will be resorted to.

Substitute Latin.—Bangor, May.—Although this city has a large Teutonic population, the teaching of German in the public schools has been discontinued, and Latin substituted in its place. The plan has met with unanimous approval.

Changes Name.—Fond du Lac, May.—Established nearly half a century ago, the church in this city has changed its name to the Merrill Street M. E. church.

W. S. S. in Charge.—Marquette, May.—To promote the sale of Thrift stamps, seventy-five business men of the city have decided to give Thrift stamps as part of the change to all patrons of their retail establishments until January 1 next.

Pardoned.—Madison, Wis., May 17.—A conditional pardon was granted by Gov. Philipp on Thursday to James Lowney of Winnebago. The application for the pardon was made by his father, F. L. Lowney, and it is approved by the governor on the condition that the boy remain at home and obey in a lawful manner. Lowney is suffering from tuberculosis and is not expected to live more than a year. He was sent to the penitentiary in February, 1918, for a term of seven years, from the municipal court of Winnebago county for forging a check for $27.

Druggist on Trial.—Neenah, Wis., May 17.—Waiving preliminary hearing upon the charge of his selling intoxicating liquor without a physician's certificate, M. E. Barrett will be tried in municipal court at Oshkosh next week. A test case is being made by the local authorities, who allege that a druggist cannot legally dispense intoxicants upon the customer merely signing a requisition.

TESTIMONY TAKEN IN BELOIT DAMAGE CASE

Testimony was taken in circuit court before Judge Grimm today in the case of the Beloit Water Company vs. Edward Brantigan, a suit to recover damages for filling in Rock river near the company's plant with earth. M. O. Mount and O. E. Ostreich are representing the plaintiff in the action while Woolsey & Arnold are appearing for the defendant.

Received today at Fortis, his shipment of ladies' holeproof hosiery in Cordovan, African brown, bronze, Genu, Buck, white and gun metal shades.

REGISTRATION WORK OF DISTRICT TO BE DONE IN THIS CITY

All Youths Required to Register This Year Must Do So at the Office of the Local Board at the Local Post Office.

Instead of opening up the five voting booths in this city and those in the townships in the Janesville district of Rock county for the registration of youths who have become 21 years of age since last registration day, June 5th, the local board has decided to conduct all the registration work for the entire district at its office on the second floor of the post-office building. The reason for this action is that the centralization of the work will hasten its completion.

The decision was necessary for youths living in Edgerton, Evansville, and other parts of the northern half of Rock county to come to this city to register on the date set, which will unquestionably be June 5th. The local board is daily receiving supplies for the registration work and everything will soon be in readiness for the day. Registrants will answer practically the same questions which were asked of those who registered last year—name in full, age in years, home address, date and place of birth, citizenship, father's birthplace, name of employer and place of employment, race, and name and address of nearest relative.

To be required to register a person must have been born in the year 1896, in a month and on a day subsequent to June 5, or in 1897, in a month and on a day thereafter prior to June 5, on the date set for registration. Upon completing his registration each man will be given a card to carry with him. The local board will then make duplicate copies of registration cards to be sent to Washington.

The centralization of the work of the entire district in Janesville this year made possible by the fact that the number of men who will be required to register will be approximately two hundred. Wisconsin was the first state to report complete registration returns at Washington last year and she is going to be first this year if other boards in the state will centralize their work instead of conducting it similar to the way it was last year.

The house representatives have already passed the bill setting registration day for June 5th of this year, and the senate will no doubt act on the bill favorably within a very short time.

APPEAL MILK CASE TO CIRCUIT COURT; RENDER JUDGMENT

Kee and Chapell Company Do Not Contest Case Tried in the Municipal Court—Case Is Appealed.

John L. Fisher, attorney for the Kee and Chapell Dairy company, appealed the judgment rendered in the municipal court this morning to the circuit court on the grounds that his company was not ready to fight the case when it came before Judge Maxfield. The case will come up for trial at the fall term of the circuit court. A. M. Hull and Frank Maxwell, milk producers from Milton, started the action against the dairy company on the grounds that they were not given full payment for the milk delivered during the month of March and April. Testimony was given by the plaintiffs before the judge this morning and in default of the appearance of the Kee and Chapell company, judgment was demanded by Attorneys Pierce and Tallman. Judge Maxfield rendered the judgment in favor of the plaintiffs, which amounted to $937.21, of which $37.01 covered the costs in the case.

According to Attorney Fisher he did not appear for the company because it had been agreed between the attorneys that the case would not be tried until both parties were ready for the action. Due to the fact that Mr. Chapell could not be in the city and the company's attorney in Chicago was busy, Attorney Fisher decided not to appear and to appeal the case. At the time the case comes before Judge Grimm the company will fight the case and attempt to reverse the judgment rendered by Judge Maxfield.

The ten other cases involving the payment for the March and April milk which were slated to be tried yesterday were adjourned until May 23, on the agreement of the attorneys.

The trying of the case in the circuit court this morning was of unusual interest to the producers, who were out in numbers to hear the testimony. The producers seemed to have taken a divided stand on the question, some being willing to accept the compromise price of the company, while others are out to sue for their full amounts, which they claim are due them.

A new angle to the situation was brought forward in court when Attorney Pierce attempted to show that the Kee and Chapell company had not been giving the farmers the full test for the milk. That is, they claimed that the checks for the April milk were based on a 3.2 test and that in reality the milk tested 3.3.

LIFE LONG RESIDENT OF JANESVILLE DEAD

Benjamin F. Nelson, 427 Galena Street, Passed Away Late Yesterday Afternoon at Mercy Hospital.

Benjamin F. Nelson passed away at Mercy hospital yesterday afternoon at five o'clock after a two weeks' illness of pneumonia. In the death of Mr. Nelson, Janesville has lost a truly representative citizen, one who has always stood firm for the best. For the past fifteen years he has been employed as a mail carrier in this city and with his winning ways he made scores of staunch friends who will deeply mourn his loss.

The deceased was born in this city September 10, 1863, and has made his home here since that time. He leaves a sorrowing wife to mourn his loss, his father, two sisters and one brother, H. J. Nelson. The funeral will be held from St. Patrick's church tomorrow morning at nine o'clock. Interment will be made in Mount Olivet cemetery.

QUICK ACTION SAVES HEAVY FIRE DAMAGE

Overheated Oven Causes Fire at Skidd Manufacturing Company at Ten O'Clock This Morning.

An overheated oven at the Skidd Manufacturing company on West Milwaukee street at ten o'clock this morning started a blaze which might have resulted in serious damage but for the speedy arrival of the fire department. The fire started in the wooden frame sheds facing on Pleasant street and spread rapidly to the oil and grease in the near vicinity. The flames had a good start by the time the department arrived and two streams were necessary to stop them from spreading. Due to the oils being near the flames it was a hard one to combat and the firemen were forced to use extreme caution in approaching the flames. The extent of the damage done is not known but the building was badly gutted and will undoubtedly have to be entirely rebuilt. The sheds are in close proximity to the main building and heavy damage would have resulted had not the flames been put out at the time they were.

Although the damage to the sheds may not be over one thousand dollars the business activities of the firm will be seriously impaired.

TO GIVE RECITAL AT INSTITUTE FOR BLIND

Adams Buell, Noted Pianist, Will Render Selections This Evening at State School.

Adam Buell, the young American pianist who has risen rapidly and who is now placed as one of the greatest pianists, will give a recital at the Institute for the Blind this evening. The recital will be open only to the students at the state school.

An exceedingly interesting program has been arranged to be given and there is no doubt that he will display his excellent technique and touch in a fine instruction for the school. On his program will be the "Boys over there" and following his study in the United States he spent several years in Germany under the instruction of masters there.

The program which he will render is as follows:

Sarabande—Transcribed by Godowski
Lullaby—Lully (1683-1687)
Capriccio—Transcribed by Godowski
Dandieu (1834-1740)
Cavatina—Transcribed by Brahms
Cluck (1714-1747)
Gavotte—Transcribed by Gounod
March—Transcribed by Rubinstein
Bach (1731-1796)

MEETING OF W. C. T. U.
WAS HELD YESTERDAY

A regular meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was held on yesterday afternoon at the library.

The regular business of the society was transacted and it was decided that owing to the Liberty Loan drive just past and other work of the school children in connection with the instruction for the school, on the program will be the "Boys over there" and following his study in the United States he spent several years in Germany under the instruction of masters there.

Pro-German?
Manitowish, May.—August Tesch, a farmer, has appealed to the district attorney for protection because he found a sign posted on a pole in front of his home, declaring that he was a pro-German and had failed to buy a Liberty bond. The sign warned that if he attempted to remove it he would be tarred and feathered. Tesch permitted the sign to remain and called for help.

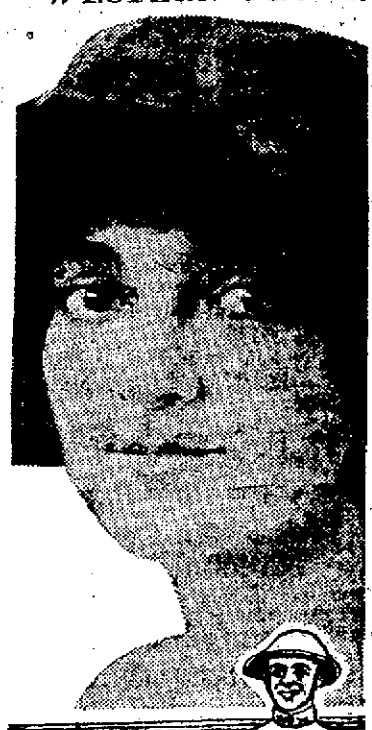

Cow Itch in Letter.
Madison, May.—Investigation is being made by postal authorities to learn the identity of the person who sent a letter containing cow itch through the mails from Minneapolis to this city. The missive was opened by a woman clerk in the secretary of state's office and caused her considerable trouble for a time.

CONSCRIPTION NOT TO BE BEGUN IMMEDIATELY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Dublin, May 17.—At a meeting of forty-five members of Irish parties here today with Irish Nationalists led by John Dillon, pressing a statement was issued to the effect that the bill for conscription in Ireland was adopted by parliament largely under the impression no attempt would be made to use the power until a responsible Irish government and an Irish parliament were called into existence.

"PLAYGIRL OF THE WESTERN FRONT"

Miss Elsie Janis.

Miss Elsie Janis, the popular American actress, is called "The Playgirl of the Western Front." She has volunteered for the period of the war to entertain our boys in France. Her latest exploit was to make her appearance before an audience of 8,600 soldiers on the cow-catcher of a French locomotive.

200,000 AUTOMOBILE LICENSES EXPECTED TO BE ISSUED THIS YEAR

Madison, Wis., May 17.—Upwards of 200,000 automobile licenses will be issued in Wisconsin this year, according to the Secretary of State. The prediction is based on the large number of applications which are coming daily to his office. Already the number of licenses issued last year has been exceeded and new applications are pouring in with each mail. The total number of licenses issued last year was 165,000.

The automobile law, passed in 1905, provided for a means of conveyance about the year 1900. Automobile licensing and registration commenced in Wisconsin on July 1, 1905. Up to 1911 there was no annual registration, but making due allowance for machines discarded each year the records of the Secretary of State's office indicate that the total number of automobiles, motorcycles, and trucks in use in Wisconsin at the end of the various years since 1904 was as follows: 1905, 3,000; 1906, 3,200; 1907, 3,700; 1908, 5,000; 1909, 5,800; 1910, 14,500; 1911, 22,000; 1912, 21,500; 1913, 45,000; 1914, 64,000; 1915, 83,000.

Because there are some people who attempt to evade the automobile law by neglecting to purchase licenses, the last session of the legislature passed a law appropriating $250,000 for the hiring of automobile inspectors. Two appointments will be made within a few days for inspectors to work during the months of June, July and August. In Milwaukee on one day last week forty-eight people were found operating cars not legally licensed. It is believed that the inspectors will be able to bring in many new revenues.

False Fire Alarm.

An alarm of fire was sounded last evening about eight o'clock calling the fire department to the Rev. E. J. Church street. Upon their arrival there no signs of a fire could be detected anywhere in that vicinity. Whether or not it was done for a joke was not determined.

Footville Players Here.
Next Tuesday evening, May 21, the Footville Players will produce "The House of the Magnificent" at the Evansville Red Cross benefit. The play and the players come highly recommended, and the Footville and Evansville Red Cross societies will go fifty-fifty in dividing the proceeds. Remember the date.

Junior Red Cross Work.
Since the Evansville schools have taken up Junior Red Cross work, a really fine work has been accomplished. Children of all ages have entered into it heartily with a result that has been surprising. Each grade has been assigned a task and the line of work allotted to them to do. In the seventh grade, presided over by Miss Lavilla Endicott as teacher, the work has been done by the pupils in the sale of Thrift Stamps, for the grade has sold $260.00 in Thrift Stamps. They have set the pace for all the other grades and evaded the high school, but not one as yet can anywhere approach them.

Lynah Howe's Travel Festival.
Lynah H. Howe who annually pays Transville a visit, with his Travel Festival, is due to arrive here, Friday evening, May 24, at Magee's Opera House. These parties are most interesting and of great interest here, and these probably will be no exception to the rule.

Personal.
C. M. Van Worman of Lewiston, Montana, Harry Van Worman of Hub City, Wisconsin, Mrs. E. M. Dixon, of Don du Las, Mrs. C. W. Spaulding, of Janesville, are in the city, called by the illness of their mother, Mrs. J. J. Van Worman, at her home in Cookville.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Ballard are spending the week in Chicago. Dr. W. Wright, arrived Tuesday evening, from Plainville, Minn., where he has been spending the winter with his son, Chas. Wright.

Wayne Shaw has purchased the block next to the Bank of Evansville, formerly owned by James Gillies, and will probably take possession June 1. Jason Keyes of Beigt, a brother of Myron Keyes of this city, passed away at his home in the Line City, yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Van Wart and Mr. Keyes motored to Beigt, yesterday, being called there by death.

Robinson has purchased a new automobile. Mrs. Charles Fuller, who has been quite ill is slowly improving. Mrs. Andrew Huddleston has gone to Appleton to spend the week-end with Miss Esther Franklin.

News Notes from Movieland

—BY DAISY DEAN—

Edith Storey, the athletic young Metro star, will dispute anybody who thinks that the life of an actress is easy. For just now all of Miss Storey's leisure time is all of her spare time not occupied with knitting for the "boys over there" or keeping up her riding, swimming and horse shooting, for which she is famous. She spent many long and trying hours to learn the native language of spaghetti land.

Just because of the principal parts in her forthcoming picture is played by an Italian and because that Italian is temperamental and often bursts forth in his native tongue, it was thought by Miss Storey's director that she should learn enough of the language to carry on an ordinary conversation. And so to be agreeable, Miss Storey carries an Italian dictionary in her pocket and tries to count stitches in Italian.

"Learning a new language is by no means the most difficult task I have met during my screen career," said Miss Storey, "but I do hope they never give a Chinaman a prominent part in one of my pictures."

Miss Storey is, even as the "Denkard" of the screen, because she does such excellent work in emotional roles. She was born in New York city and made her professional debut at the age of ten on the speaking stage. She has been in pictures for six years, having started out with the old Vitaphone company, playing mostly in western plays. She has played every kind of part from heavy tragedy to farcical comedy, and has excelled in both extremes.

WAR SACRIFICE.
Mae Marsh, who forewore sugar in her coffee as a war economy, has joined with Madge Kline and the three employ, but one maid between them. They contribute the saving to the Red Cross.

Tom Moore, who is fast becoming popular as a Goldwyn star, must be bashful. There is no other way to account for the fact that although he has been photographed more times than any leading man on the screen he has not faced a portrait camera for several years. Goldwyn is trying to persuade the concealing young actor that he owes it to his legion of admirers to let them see a "really truly" cabinet photograph of him as he really is.

Fred Blackman, of Chicago, is in the city, the guest of the daughter, Mrs. Helen Blackman, and other relatives.

W. W. Gillies left last evening for Chippewa Falls, on a business trip. Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Riely, who have been in the city for some time, will move to Janesville next month, to make that city their future home. They have sold their property here.

The local club plan to hold their annual picnic, tomorrow, at First Lake. Mrs. Maurice Van Hecke will be the guest of honor.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Riely, of the Evansville Junior College, will give a reception to the public, next Tuesday evening, May 21, at eight o'clock. This will take the place of the usual banquet.

A special meeting of the W. R. C. will be held in their hall this evening at 7:30 o'clock, to make arrangements for Memorial day. A full attendance is desired.

Whitewater News

Whitewater, May 17.—Charles Agnew and Miss Jessie Campbell of this city were married at Mt. Horeb on Tuesday, May 14th, at St. Ignace by Rev. Fr. Rohrer. The attendants were Miss Rose Agnew, sister of the groom, and Mrs. H. N. Riely. The couple have many friends here, having spent their lives in this city. Mr. Agnew gained some renown in athletics while attending school here, having been a member of the football squad for several years. He was also a good basketball player and was interested in baseball. The past year he has been teaching athletics at the high school. After a short wedding trip the young couple returned to this city. The groom left this morning for Elkhorn to report for service and expects to go to Fort Benning, Harrison, Wis. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. G. W. Campbell and for the present will make her home here.

Charles O. Hand of this city and Miss Emma Lovell of Elkhorn were married at the home of the bride at 2:30 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, May 16th, by Rev. Fr. Rohrer. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. G. W. Campbell and for the present will make her home here.

The baseball season opens here Sunday when a team of local players from the home guard will play Fort Atkinson at the city park. Batters are the localists, Kacher, Mitten and G. Nell, and Beebe and Hornicle for the visitors.

Many babies, ranging in age from a few weeks to six years of age, have been taken to the city hall the past few days for the weighing and measuring process. The women doing the work are unpaid assistants of the government bureau.

E. Hill, who works for Elmer Fish, was carrying bananas in the store Monday and in one of the bunches discovered a snake. The reptile was killed and measured and was nearly a yard long. It was sent to Prof. W. S. Watson for analysis and found to be a Brazilian Dammianicus, and was of the diamond species.

The plans for Memorial day exercises are well under way. Rev. Allen Adams of the M. E. church will give the address. Music will be furnished by the normal school orchestra chorus. An effort will be made to get a band together, that organization having been broken up. The Home Guard will give a drill.

In the will of W. H. J. Hewitt it was provided that the sum of $1,000 to the M. E. Sunday school, the interest of which is to be used for the library. A similar amount was left to the Masonic organization. Mrs. Adams has the use of all the property during her life.

Mrs. Andrew McBride of Momeouth, Ill., visited her sister, Mrs. H. C. Brown, here this week. Mrs. Brown, here this week. Mrs. Brown, here this week. Mrs. Brown, here this week.

Mrs. Alice Hansen here a few days old who weighs eight pounds. They have named her Mary Lou Hansen.

Mrs. Milton Clark of Janesville is the guest of Mrs. E. P. Goodman and friends here this week. Harvey Ridge is teaching in the high school at Elkhorn. Mrs. Beulah Higgins went to Stoughton, yesterday afternoon, to attend the graduation exercises, where her grandson graduates. Goodwin Watson, now teaching in the high school at Madison, will be the guest of Mrs. M. E. church at the reunion of the rest of the conference year.

Edith Storey.

Tom Mix is married again. But a few weeks ago Tom was divorced by Olive Stokes. Now comes word that his new wife is Victoria Hannaforth, his leading woman. The former Mrs. Mix was wedded to Tom when he was a cowboy on her father's ranch. When the photoplay came gave him popularity she claimed that his affection waned.

Alice Howell, one of the best known comedienne of the screen, has signed a long term contract to star with Universal releases. She will make her first issue, under new conditions, within the fortnight. The release is entitled, "Her Unmarried Life."

JANESVILLE SOLDIER WRITES FROM FRANCE

James Palmer, in Letter from France,
Tells of Some of the Horrors of Last Big Offensive.

James Palmer, a former Janesville boy who is now with Uncle Sam's forces in France, has written a very interesting letter to a friend in this city telling of what happened during the last big German offensive. The letter tells in detail of the big drive and also describes some of its horrors. The letter follows:

Dear Friend Art:—
Your letter came in a few days ago with men others which had been held for us for almost a month, during which time we were very much engaged with Fritz. We have moved one person in and every which direction for so long that the postal department gave us up as a bad job and decided to wait until we landed somewhere. We landed all right and right in the very hottest place on God's green earth, right into Fritz's drive, and after getting a bump as a reception we settled right down to do the dirty work. We did it.

The whole affair was so horrible that I even hate to think of what it was like and I had the gift of describing it if I had it then there is not a person in a thousand would believe one-tenth of it.

Taking our section's work there and how we ever came out above ground, but I believe that we have a guardian angel and that we are possessors of charmed lives.

When our boys got down to business, that is the trench boys, they moved down the trench until they were sick of killing the skunks, and still they came on. Machine guns played the big part in the big battle. For the American army I recommend an automatic rifle for every four men and a machine gun for every eight or ten. Rifles here are little or no good at all beyond something to stick a bayonet on.

Of being in I. I. for the Co., but as you realize, what we would like to do is not of the first importance these days. Do something to help.

Spillbuilding may not have all the spicing to it that the trenches have but is just as necessary as any infantry is. Wish you luck, old boy.

Head about Joe, he is doing well and will make the right kind of officer.

Hope you write again soon, as letters are rather scarce from the folks I would love to hear from. You are one of them.

Sincerely,
JAMES PALMER.

"Gets-It"—2 Drops-- Then to the Dance!

"Goodnight to Corn Pains—Corns Peel Off With 'Gets-It'!"

"Say, girls, you can laugh at right shoes or damp, corn-polluting weather, but today corns, ridges on the soles of your feet, corns between the toes, hard and soft corns."

"It's All Off With This Pierce Corn No. 1—'Gets-It' Is Magic!"

If you will just touch the corn or callus with a few drops of 'Gets-It'! You won't jump any more, you can enjoy the dance every minute. Then to see how this corn or callus will come right off completely, like a banana peel and without the least pain, is just wonderful. 'Gets-It' is the biggest seller among corn remedies in the world today. Surely because it is so wonderful, fully simple and always works. Be sure you get 'Gets-It'!

'Gets-It' is the guaranteed, money-back corn-remover, the only sure way, costs but a little at any drug store. Manufactured by E. Lawrence, 100 N. 1st St., St. Louis, Mo. Sold in Janesville and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by Smith, Deane Co., Medicine and Druggists.

Janesville Merchant Financial Wreck

"I am a financial wreck because of the expense of doctors and medicine for my wife. She has been a chronic sufferer for 15 years. Some gastritis and some intestinal inflammation. I happened to read an ad of May's Wonderful Remedy and from the first dose my wife has steadily improved." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removed the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. J. P. Baker.

Use Coconut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and is very harmful. Just plain mulitised coconut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair. Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two spoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage. You can get mulitised coconut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

Heals Running Sores and Conquers Piles

Also Stops Itching of Eczema as Soon As Applied.

"I feel it my duty to write you a letter of thanks for your wonderful Peterson's Ointment. I had a running sore on my left leg for one year. I began to use Peterson's Ointment three weeks ago and now it is healed."—A. C. Gilbreath, 703 Reed St., Erie, Pa.

I'd rather get a letter like that says Peterson, than have John D. Rockefeller give me a thousand dollars. It does me a lot of good to be able to be of use to my fellow men. For years I have been selling through druggists a large box of PETERSON'S OINTMENT for a trifle. The healing power in this ointment is marvelous. Eczema goes in a few days. Old Sores heal up like magic, all the other remedies do not seem to even relieve. Are splendidly conquered. Pimples and nasty blackheads disappear in a week. 50 cents a box. Advertisement.

Old Lady Number 31

By LOUISE FORSLUND

Author of "The Story of Sarah," "The Ship of Dreams," etc.

Copyright by the Century Co.

Angy's eyes cleared. She struggled to speak, aghast at the thought that life itself might be done before ever they could have one hour together again; but no words came. So much—so much to say! She reached out her hand to where his rested upon his knee. Their fingers gripped, and each felt a sense of dreary cheer to know that the touch was speaking what the tongue could not utter.

Time passed swiftly. The silent hour sped on. The young blades of corn gossiped gently along the field. Above, the branches of the willow swished and swayed to the rhythm of the soft south wind.

"How still, how still it is!" whispered the breeze.

"Rest, rest, rest!" was the lullaby swish of the willow.

The old wife nestled closer to Abraham until her head touched his shoulder. He laid his cheek against her hair and the carefully preserved old bonnet. Involuntarily she raised her hand, trained by the years of pinching economy, to lift the fragile rose into a safer position. He smiled at her action; then his arm closed about her passionately and he swallowed a lump in his throat.

The afternoon was waning. Gradually over the turmoil of their hearts stole the garden's June-time spirit of drowsy repose. They leaned even closer to each other. The gray of the old man's hair mingled with the gray beneath Angelina's little bonnet. Slowly his eyes closed. Then even as Angy wondered who would watch over the slumbers of his worn old age in the poorhouse, she, too, fell asleep.

CHAPTER III.

The Candidate.

The butcher's boy brought the tidings of the auction sale in at the kitchen door of the Old Ladies' home even while Angy and Abe were lingering over their posies, and the inmates of the home were waiting to receive the old wife with the greater sympathy and the deeper spirit of welcome from the fact that two of the twenty-nine members had known her from girlhood, away back in the boarding-school days.

"Yop," said the boy, with one eye upon the stout matron, who was critically examining the meat that he had brought. "Yop, the auction's over, an' Cap'n Rose, he— Don't that suit you, Miss Abigail? You won't find a better, nicer, tenderer and more juicy piece of shoulder this side of New York. Take it back, did you say? All right, ma'am, all right!" His face assumed a look of resignation; these old ladies made his life a martyrdom. He spent one-half his time carrying orders back and forth from the Old Ladies' home. But now, in spite of his meekness of manner, he did not intend to take this cut back. So with Machiavellian skill he hastened on with his gossip.

"Yop, an' they only riz one hundred dollars an' two cents—one hundred dollars an' a postage-stamp. I guess it's all up with the cap'n an' the Old Men's. I don't see 'em hangin' out no 'Welcome' sign on the strength of that."

"You're a horrid, heartless little boy!" burst forth Miss Abigail, and, flinging the disputed meat on the table, she sank down into the chair, completely overcome by sorrow and indignation. "You'll be old yerself some day," she sobbed, not noticing that he was stealthily edging toward the door, one eye on her, one on tomorrow's pot roast. "I tell yew, Tommy," regaining her accustomed confident amiability, as she lifted the corner of her apron to wipe her eyes, "Miss Ellie will feel some kind o' bad, tew. Yew know me an' her an' Angy all went ter school together, although Miss Ellie is so much younger'n the rest o' us that we call her the baby. Here! Where—"

"You young folks," she affirmed, herself having seen ninety-nine winters, while Abigail had known but a paltry sixty-five, "yew allers go an' cut yer yip on the skew-gee. I don't see nothin' to bawl an' beller about. I say that any man what can't take here o' himself, not ter mention his wife, should order go ter the poor-house."

But the matriarch's voice quavered even more than usual, and as she finished she hastily bent down and felt in her deep skirt pocket for her snuff-box.

"You're a Horrid, Heartless Little Boy!"

Now the Amazonian Mrs. Homan, a widow for the third time, made sturdy retort:

"That's jest like yew old maids—alwavs a-blaamin' the men. Yew kin jest bet I never would have let one of my husbands go ter the poorhouse. It would have mortified me dreadful. I must be a purty poor sort of a woman what can't take the care of one man and keep a roof over his head. Why, my second, Oliver G., used ter say—"

"Oh! Miss Ellie wrung her hands, 'can't we do somethin'!'"

"I could do a-plenty," mourned Miss Abigail, "if I only had been savin'. Here I git a salary o' four dollars a month, an' not one penny laid away."

"Yew tergit," spoke some one gently, "that it takes considerable ter dress a maion proper."

Aunt Nancy, who had been sneezing furiously at her own impotence, now found her speech again.

"We're a nice set ter talk or bout devin' somethin'—a passel o' poor ole critters like us!" Her cackle of embittered laughter was interrupted by the low, cultivated voice of the belle of the home, "Butterfly Blossy."

"We've got to do something," said Blossy firmly.

When Blossy spoke with such decision every one of the sisters pricked up her ears. Blossy might be "a shal-lar-pate," she might arrange the golden-white hair of her head as befitted the crowning glory of a young girl, with puffs and rolls and little curls, and—more than one sister suspected—with the aid of "rats," she might gown herself elaborately in the mended finery of the long ago, the better years; she might dress her lovely big room—the only double bed-chamber in the house, for which she had paid a double entrance fee—in all sorts of gewgaws, little ornaments, hand-painted plaques of her own producing, lace bedspreads, embroidered splashes and pillow-shams; she might even permit herself a suitor who came twice a year more punctually than the line-storm, to ask her withered little hand in marriage—but her heart was in the right place, and on occasion she had proved herself a master hand at "fixin' things."

"Yes," said she, rising to her feet and flinging out her arms with an eloquent gesture: "we've got to do something, and there's just one thing to do, girls: take the captain right here—here!"—she brought her hands to the faces on her bosom—"to our hearts!"

At first there was silence, with the ladies staring blankly at Blossy and then at one another. Had they heard aright? There came murmurs and exclamations, with Miss Abigail's voice gasping above the others:

"What would the directors say?"

"What do they always say when we ask a favor?" demanded Blossy.

"How much will it cost? It won't cost a cent."

"Won't, eh?" snapped Aunt Nancy.

"How on earth be yew goin' to vittin' him? I hain't had a second dish o' peas this year."

"Some men eat more an' some less," remarked Sarah Jane, as ill-favored a spinster as ever the sun shone on, "generally it means so much grub ter so much weight."

Miss Abigail glanced up at the ceiling, while Lazy Daisy, who had refused to tip the beam for ten years, surreptitiously hid an apple into which she had been biting.

"Le's have 'em weighed," suggested a widow, Ruby Lee, with a pretty, well-preserved little face and figure, "an' ef tergether they don't come up to the heartiest one of us—"

Miss Abigail made hasty interruption:

"Gals, hain't yew never noticed that the more yew need the more yew git? Before Jenny Bell went to live with her darter I didn't know what I should do, for the 'taters was gittin' pooty low. Yew know she used ter eat twenty ter a meal, an' then look hungry at the platter. An' then ef old Square Ely didn't come a-drivin' up one mornin' with ten bushel in the farm wagon! He'd been savin' 'em fer us all winter fer fear we might run short in the spring. Gals, that's one thing yew kin depend on, the foresightedness of the Lord. I hain't afraid ter risk a-stretchin' the board an' keep o' thirty ter pervide ample fer thirty-one. Naw, how many of yew is willin' ter try it?"

Every head nodded. "I am," every eye was wet with the dew of merciful kindness; and Mrs. Homan and Sarah Jane, who had hung plates at each other only that morning, were observed to be holding hands.

"But how on earth be we a-goin' ter sleep him?" proceeded the matron easily. "That hain't a extr'y corner in the bull place. Puttin' tew people in No. 30 is out of the question—it's jest erbout the size of a Cinderella shoe box, anyhow, an' the garret leaks—"

She paused, for Blossy was pulling at her sleeve, the real Blossy, warm-hearted, generous, self-deprecating.

"I think No. 30 is just the coziest little place for one! Do let me take it, Miss Abigail, and give the couple my great big barn of a room."

Aunt Nancy eyed her suspiciously. "Yew ain't a-givin' ter make a fool o' yerself, an' jump over the broomstick ag'in?" For Blossy's old suitor, Samuel Darby, had made one of his semi-annual visits only that morning.

The belle burst into hysterical and self-conscious laughter, as she found every glance bent upon her.

"Oh, no, no; not that. But I confess that I am tired to death of this perpetual dove-party. I just simply can't live another minute without a man in the house."

"Now, Miss Abigail," she added imperiously, "yew run across lots and fetch him home."

Ugly, Unsightly Pimples Are Signals of Bad Blood

Give Heed to the Warning.

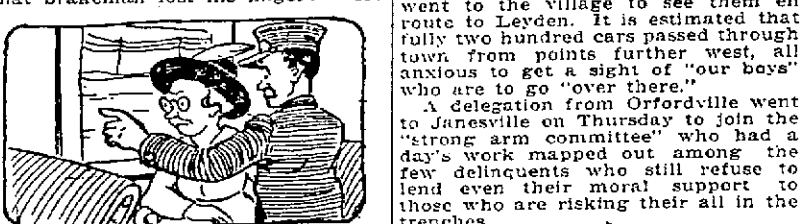

Pimples on the face and other parts of the body are warnings from Nature that your blood is sluggish and impure. Sometimes they foretell eczema, boils, blisters, scaly eruptions and other skin disorders that burn like flames of fire. They mean that your blood needs S. S. S. to purify it and cleanse it of these impure accumulations that can cause unlimited trouble. This remedy is the greatest vegetable blood purifier known, and contains no minerals or chemicals to injure the most delicate skin.

Go to your druggist, and get a bottle of S. S. S. today, and get rid of those unsightly and disgusting pimples, and other skin irritations. And it will cleanse your blood thoroughly. If you wish special medical advice, you can obtain it without charge by writing to Medical Director, 29 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Georgia.

Dinner Stories

One day after the brakeman had been explaining the scenery one of the passengers whispered to the conductor:

"Conductor, can you tell me how that brakeman lost his finger?" He seems to be a nice fellow."

"That's just it, ma'am. He's so obliging that he just wore his finger off pointing out the scenery along the line."

Hurrying up to the side of the conductor, a passenger eagerly inquired: "Do you think that I will have time to get a soda before the train starts?" "Oh, yes," answered the conductor. "But suppose," answered the thirsty passenger, "that the train should go on without me?"

"We can easily fix that," promptly replied the conductor. "I will go along and have one with you."

An American was touring Ireland, and, stopping at a wretched inn, he said to the young attendant gaily, rubbing his hands:

"Ah, young man, I'm as hungry as a bear. Grill me at once one of your famous Irish steaks, juicy and tender and two inches thick—with fried potatoes and onions."

The lad stared at the traveler. Then he clumped out. On his return the man asked:

"Well, steak coming on all right?" "Behind, sir," said the boy, "rather says that if he had a steak like that in the house he'd ate it himself, so he would!"

"So you want to get exempted. Have you anyone dependent on you?" "Oh, yaws, suh, suah, sah. My wife, she depends on me, sah, to carry her wash home, sah."

BARKER'S CORNERS

Barker's Corners, May 16.—Mrs. A. Pope of Janesville and her daughter from St. Paul, Minn., spent Wednesday at W. E. Shoemaker's. A number from this vicinity were in the city Thursday to see the soldiers pass through on their way to Sparta.

Sam Simmons is in Mercy Hospital in Janesville. Dr. Lintelman operated on his eyes. He is getting a little better.

O. D. Brace has bought a new automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Butler and family of the city were visitors at Chas. Davis' the first of the week.

Margaret Simmons submitted to an operation at Mercy Hospital last week Thursday. Her many friends hope she will soon be home.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McDermott spent Sunday in Janesville.

W. W. Shoemaker was a visitor in Beloit the first of the week.

DOWN AND OUT MOTHER BRACES UP. SURPRISES WHOLE FAMILY

She had worked, loved and was happy in doing for her children, and when she started to break down they were frantic, were willing to do almost anything to make her last years happy and free from worry and illness. Nothing they did seemed to help; doctors, medicines or rest gave no results.

Finally, when all were about desperate with worry a neighbor induced them to try Phosphated Iron. It had worked such wonders with her old folks. Ready to grasp at any help they got a supply and the way their mother improved from the start was almost too good to believe. It was sure a happy and reunited family and you can bet they are all boosting Phosphated Iron to the limit.

Doctors the world over will tell you that Phosphates and Iron will build up and store strength and energy against old age and nervous breakdowns. One of our leading physicians says, "The results I have obtained with Phosphated Iron have been great in cases of old people, where it was necessary to build up strength, revive bodily functions, give them life, renewed youth and health. There must be something to it. Doctors and druggists all tell the same story of success."

Special Notice.—To insure physicians and their patients getting the genuine Phosphated Iron, it is put up in capsules only. Do not allow dealers to give you pills or tablets, insist on capsules.—Smith Drug Co., and leading druggists everywhere.

GERMAN COLONIES BUT USED AS MEANS TOWARD WORLD POWER, SAYS BRITISH GENERAL

At a recent meeting of the Royal Geographical Society in London, General Smuts of the British armiea spoke at some length on the future of the German colonies in Africa, pointing out why they should not be returned to Germany and declaring that German colonies are not real colonies but merely strategic possessions for exercising her world-power in future.

MAKING A MILLION

By H. T. RICH.

(Copyright, 1917, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Charles E. C. Ackerson was an obscure little author of unpopular fiction—short stories that one thanked heaven were short.

The difficulty lay not in any lack of language, but in a certain dearth of ideas. Result: a dull and tedious tale.

Ever hear of him? I doubt it. Anyway, you would be unlikely to know he had a daughter. He had, though! Her name was Allie, and her mother had died when she was very small, leaving her to her father's kindly, but irregular tutelage. As a consequence of which, by the time she reached twenty, she was in possession among other things of as vigorous an artistic temperament as the most ardent temperament fan could desire.

Now an artistic temperament must have its opposite, and hers was H. H. Bennink—though he pretended he had just such a temperament as hers and swore he was a writer. For Bennink was versed in the ways of women. Moreover, he and the aforesaid Charles were friends. Put this with the fact that he actually was in love with daughter Allie, and you have a situation that would really have afforded grounds for fiction.

"Henry," Charles said one day, "you don't write. I'll wager you never sold a story in your life."

"Hush!" Henry replied, drooping a slow lid. "I use a 'nom de plume'."

Whereupon Charles had ceased to be concerned on that point. They understood each other, and the sooner a certain marriage took place, the better.

But not so, Allie. She wanted a real author, not one who used "nom de plumes" and was mysteriously reticent about his work.

"It's no use, Henry," she exclaimed at length, after he had been coming to see her for several months. "You've either got to write under your own name, or go away—for good."

Her words were final, and he knew it.

"Would you marry me if I did?" he asked.

"Yes," she said.

Now watch!

Bennink, being a business man, betook himself to Charles' inner shrine and sat with him in solemn conclave. There was bold talk, and mention of sums of money in seven figures. An agreement was reached. Then he returned to Allie.

"My dear," he said, "it shall be as you wish. I shall reveal my identity at last, in a series of stories which I promise to begin tomorrow."

And when tomorrow arrived, the series was begun.

We must now suppose some months to have elapsed, and Allie to have become Mrs. Bennink.

Do you remember those stories in K—'s Magazine last year, about the young fellow who succeeded in relieving Wall street of so much money? "Henry Makes a Million," the series was called. Perhaps you have forgotten, but the name H. H. Bennink was under the title.

Bennink will never forget. The memorable day the issue containing his first story appeared, he had returned from the office (Yes, indeed, it is quite customary for authors nowadays to have city offices!) to be met on his doorstep by an exultant wife.

"Not 'O. Henry'—'H. H. Bennink!'" he had laughed, and kissed her.

He said it bored him to see his name in print. But the arrival of each month's issue of K—'s continued to be fraught with keenest interest for his wife, and a certain pride in her husband grew and grew. Nor was she unduly proud, for the series was a great success.

"One case of getting famous all of a sudden," he confided to Charles one morning. "Why, do you know, dozens of magazines are after me for stories, publishers are bothering me to death about book rights, and seven colleges have offered me professorships in English. They hail me as the man of the hour, whereas—"

"Hush!" warned Charles.

The months sped on, the series was concluded, and presently it appeared in volume form—so that all might buy and learn how a certain Henry had been able to gather together ten hundred thousand dollars out of the debris of Wall street.

Then, one day, Charles E. C. Ackerson and H. H. Bennink voted themselves leave of absence; and Mrs. Bennink, returning from an afternoon auction party, found the following note from her distinguished husband pinned rakishly to the lampshade in the library:

"My Dear:

"I am the hero, your father the author. I made the million. He made it famous. We are on our vacation. Love, HENRY."

"P. S.—You will find my bankbook in the top drawer of my desk."

When Mrs. Bennink found that bankbook, she learned something that gave her artistic temperament a terrific jolt—and brought her to the conclusion that Henry was more of a business man, and her father more of a writer, than she had supposed—and that the combination was ideal both ways.

BASEBALL LAW IN PERIL IN NEW JERSEY CASE

(By International News.)
New York, May 17.—The recent decision of New York's three big league clubs not to use the Harrison, N. J., baseball for Sunday games constitutes an acknowledgment that the first decision was wrong. No other course than the one taken could have been justifiably pursued.
Just why the major leagues believed they had the right to step on the toes of their smaller rosters has not been explained satisfactorily, but the reason for the encroachment may be traced to several causes.
In the first place, Dan Johnson, president of the American league, was decidedly put out when James E. Price, former president of the Newark club of the international league, was left out in the reorganization of that circuit. Second, when the international cut the salary of Ed. G. Barrow, and forced the retirement of Ed. Barrow from the presidency of the old league, certain powers were peeved. Again they were considerably put out when some opposition developed to the plan to organize a new league from the best clubs of the international league and the American association. While Johnson did not let his hand be known in this case, his stood behind the movement to the extent of endorsing it. Certain opposition developed in the international league—so much so that holder opponents of the plan were able to leave a monkey-wrench into the machinery of a plan that would have saved the international and the American association.
Protection of territory is the principle on which a war was fought with the Federal league, a war that was won largely through the loyal support of the minor leagues. The clubs soon refused to consider transgression on the privileges of the majors when the New International wanted to place a club in The Bronx.
If Mr. Rowland is correct, what's the use of playing out the season, and certainly a world's series, if it's to be as the Chicago manager forecasts—a non-essential.

HELPING PHILLIES KEEP IN THE RACE

Erskine Mayer (above) and Eddie Burns.

Erskine Mayer, Philly pitcher who co-starred with Grover Cleveland Alexander during the first part of the 1915 season, but has been of little use since, has made a great comeback and now looks like Alexander's logical successor. Eddie Burns, who was forced to catch the entire 1915 world's series and made a splendid showing, has again been thrown into the breach and has responded nobly. His catching, throwing, hitting and all round skill have featured the early victories of the Phillies.

When the sizzling Mr. Sisler comes to the Browns from the University of Michigan he was rated as a wonderful pitcher, but it wasn't long before he proved a more wonderful batter, with the result he was taken off the pitching staff and put in the game as a regular where his batting skill would do the team more good. Babe Ruth came to the Red Sox as a pitcher and has been a winner at his profession for several years. Last season Ruth hit .325. Only Cobb, Sisler and

EDDIE COLLINS SETS NEW BASEBALL RECORD

(By International News.)
New York, May 17.—Eddie Collins, dashing captain and second baseman of the world's champion White Sox, is the new "iron man" of baseball. He acquired the title by breaking Sam Crawford's record for playing in consecutive games in 1916, when he took part in the first six games played by the Tigers. After that Sam missed a performance and finished his string with 472 consecutive championship games behind him. Some record for consistency that Crawford made.
Collins started out on his campaign for the record at the tail end of the 1914 season when he was sold to the White Sox by Connie Mack. He played in three games—the last three games of the regular schedule. In 1915, '16 and '17 he did not miss a championship game, and he has finished the fourth game played by the Sox this season he had Crawford's record beaten.
It takes a consistently brilliant player to make a record like this. It means plugging. But Collins is just that kind of a player. Here is Collins' record up to the time of breaking the mark set by Crawford:
Eddie Collins.
Year. Games. Batting. Fielding.
1914 152 326 974
1915 156 308 976
1916 158 289 971

RACINE TEAM SEEKING GAMES WITH AMATEURS

A challenge to any amateur or semi-pro team in the city has been issued by the Mitchell Motor company team of Racine. The Racine nine has an excellent record this season, and has played eighteen games listed for Saturdays, but wish to list some Sunday games. Managers are asked to communicate with C. E. A professional soccer football league, playing only government war workers who are proficient at the kicking game, is being formed by the men who have just completed the organization of the Shipbuilders' baseball league.
Although the competition will not be started until September or October, teams already are being organized to represent the largest war plants of several eastern states on the soccer field in the 1918-19 season.
According to advice from Bethlehem, Pa., Charles M. Schwab, director general of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, who was among the first distinguished patrons of soccer in this country, will donate a trophy for the Shipbuilders' Atlantic States Soccer league.

The police authorities of Pittsburgh have taken the boxing game in hand in that city and in the future will handle it in such a manner that there will be no more squabbling between the boxing promoters as to who is entitled to run shows. A rule has just been made by the police which calls for ten-round no-decision bouts in the main events, four- and six-round contests for preliminary and semi-finals, and the promoters must post a bond of $5,000 as a guarantee that they will live up to their contracts. Also the Red Cross is to receive 25 per cent of the net proceeds.

Mrs. Newman was so far recovered as to be able to return home from Chicago with her husband this week.
A Red Cross auction sale was held at Williams Bay last night which was a success.
Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Jackett, Gaylord Rico and the Misses Pierce and Sheron drove down to Beloit on Wednesday to see the soldiers parade through that city.
Lee Welch went to Rockford today to make arrangements to enlist in United States government service.
E. C. Bertram has rented his south short summer residence to Chicago parties.
Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Duggan were guests of their son and his wife in Janesville Wednesday.
L. Vining, superintendent of the Delavan Condensed Milk plant, will go to Menominee this evening to attend a superintendents' meeting.
Philip Melins of Palmyra was in the city on Tuesday attending to business connected with his property here.
Mrs. Russ Trumbull is holding a quiet reception of old neighbors and friends at her home today, it being her birthday.
Harry Sheron is again on the job substituting for city carrier.
Frank and John Moore were Beloit callers on Wednesday.
The friends of Mrs. Kate Welch of Topping's Corner are sorry to hear of her serious illness at her home.

Sport Snap Shots

Do you want to know what the sixteen major league managers are going to pull down for their six months' work on the bench this summer? Well, listen:
National League.
John McGraw, New York $30,000
George Stallings, Boston 12,500
Christy Mathewson, Cincinnati 10,000
Pat Moran, Philadelphia 5,500
Wilbert Robinson, Brooklyn 7,500
Fred Hutchinson, Chicago 7,500
Jack Hendricks, St. Louis 6,000
Hugo Bezdek, Pittsburgh 6,000
$88,000

American League.
Fielder Jones, St. Louis $20,000
Miller Huggins, New York 12,600
Hugh Jennings, Detroit 10,000
Charles Rowland, Chicago 10,000
Clark Griffith, Washington 10,000
Connie Mack, Philadelphia 10,000
Ed Barrows, Boston 7,500
Lee Fohl, Cleveland 6,000
$86,000

It may be seen that aside from President Wilson, two of the big league managers—Charles Rowland and Jones of the Browns—receive more money than any public official. In fact, the combined salaries of these two baseball notables come very close to surpassing that of the writers.

Mr. Clarence Rowland of the Chicago White Sox is a very confident person, we should say. In spite of the fact that General Joseph Jackson is due to depart from the Chicago ranks at an early date to do his bit in the army, Mr. Rowland professes to see another American league championship in the offing, to say nothing of a subsequent triumph in the world's series.
"We will win the pennant this season," says Rowland, "and we will beat the New York Giants in the world's series easier than we did a year ago. For a championship team the Giants surprised me because they displayed so many weaknesses. A dominant winner should be well balanced and strong in every department. The Giants were not. They could not have won the pennant in the American league. That McGraw won so easily in the National, and that the prospects are he will repeat, is an indication more of the weakness of that circuit rather than the strength of his own outfit."

FINAL INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN WORKERS FOR INTENSIVE CAMPAIGN

Captains and Team Workers of Chamber of Commerce Campaign Held Luncheon at Myers Hotel This Noon.

The captains and team workers who will take part in the Chamber of Commerce membership campaign which opens next Monday morning, met at luncheon today to receive their final instructions regarding the campaign and to consummate the plans for the drive which has for its object the building of a strong modern Chamber of Commerce for Janesville.

Col. Charles A. Simmons, of the American City Bureau, went into details of the campaign next week. He declared that all signs pointed to a most successful campaign in Janesville, and predicted that the Chamber of Commerce would find much to do from the very start.

W. B. SENTRY CALLED INTO U. S. SERVICE

He Leaves With May Select Men; No Successor to the Rock County Y. M. C. A. Secretary Has Been Secured.

Again the Y. M. C. A. will lose another man to the military service of the U. S. A. This time it is County Secretary W. B. Senty who has received notice from his board that he will go to camp with the May quota of select men. Mr. Senty's call at this time obliged him to close off the work in the midst of the spring program without being able to finish things as they should be.

As soon as the state committee can find a man a new secretary will be placed in the field, but that is rather uncertain as there are very few county work men available now. In the meantime C. C. Artman, one of the state secretaries will supervise the work and keep it going as good as is possible.

Mr. Senty's leaving for a "better and bigger job" came as a surprise to his friends who knew nothing of his going until the last minute. The best

ASKS ENLISTMENTS IN MEDICAL CORPS

Surgeon General William C. Gorgas of the U. S. Army Appeals to Institute of Homeopathy for More Men.

Dr. Edith V. Bartlett and Dr. A. L. Burdick of this city, have just returned from Milwaukee, where they attended a meeting of homeopathic doctors of the state, and at which time a letter received by the American Institute of Homeopathy, Chicago, from Surgeon General William C. Gorgas of the U. S. army, was read.

In the letter he asked for the cooperation of the institute in securing additional enlistments to the medical reserve corps and for keeping the numerical strength of the corps up to the requirements.

Under the present authorization for the army it is estimated that the medical reserve corps will need a steady increase of about 2,500 applicants a year during the continuation of the war for the purpose of replacements due to casualties, resignations and discharges and to provide medical personnel for organizations not at this time authorized.

In making this request to the American Institute of Homeopathy, Surgeon General Gorgas stated that many of the homeopaths have already volunteered their services have been members and followers of this school and that in the selection of medical officers there has been no discrimination against such physicians.

SEED CORN IS BEING FURNISHED TO FARMERS

Madison, Wis., May 17.—Farmers needing seed corn can still make application to C. P. Norgood, commissioner of Agriculture, at the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, at this time can be made to any part of the state and delivered within one or two days of time of shipment when sent by express and to be delivered by telephone. Such orders can be sent C. O. D., payment to be made to the department of agriculture upon receipt of the corn at the express office. The department is in touch with various supplies still on hand and with supplies furnished by the U. S. government.

A very unusual deterioration in germination of seed corn is evident in almost every county of the state," said Mr. Norgood today. "sample that tested well during cold winter weather have gradually dropped down in many instances to from thirty to sixty per cent. At this late date it is important that all corn be planted thickly, from five to six kernels per hill and shallow. The seed should be thoroughly mixed so that any poor kernels may be scattered along different hills rather than in one hill with consequent loss of the whole hill."

"The largest supply of corn on hand comes from the poorer lands of Delaware on the peninsula between the ocean and the bay and appears to be sufficiently early for Wisconsin conditions."

"The department is also in position to refer parties to sources of certified stocks of potato seed. Such orders should, however, be in early so as to permit a reasonable time for shipment unless it is desired to send them forward by express."

JEW TO CELEBRATE THE FEAST OF WEEKS

The feast of Shabbath or Feast of weeks, which this year falls on today, May 17th, was one of the three ancient Jewish harvest festivals, as one of the three annual occasions of pilgrimage to Jerusalem and the Temple, when the latter was standing and the Jews lived in their own land. The holiday is called the Feast of Weeks because it occurs seven weeks after Pentecost, just as the Christian Pentecost, which is of cognate origin, comes fifty days after Easter.

In the modern synagogue, in accordance with a tradition that the ten commandments were given on this day, and that by accepting them Israel entered into covenant with God, children of 13 to 16 years are confirmed. By this beautiful rite the Jew renews, as it were, the covenant made by his ancestors at Sinai, when they said, "We will hearken and we will do." (Exod. 24:7). Just as these forefathers brought the first fruits of their fields as offerings to God, thereby thanking Him for His bounty, so their descendants, led by their choicest offerings, their boys and girls, to His altar and consecrate them to the religion of their fathers.

ANOTHER TRAFFIC SIGN HIT BY STREET CAR

Janesville's traffic sign system received another knock last evening at ten-thirty when the west bound Milton avenue street car crashed into the standard at the intersection of East Milwaukee and Bluff streets. The red lantern was hurled fifteen feet away and was ruined in the fall. The standard was not damaged.

INTERESTING DECISION WILL BE MADE SOON BY STATE SUPREME COURT

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., May 17.—Working men of the state will be deeply interested in a decision soon to be handed down by the Wisconsin supreme court involving compensation to the widow of an employee, killed as a result of joking. The case in question is that of the Newport-Hydro Carbide company against the Industrial Commission of Wisconsin and Nettie Kohn. The Industrial Commission awarded Nettie Kohn $3,000 for the death of her husband, and Judge Stevens of the Dane county circuit court confirmed the award.

"The evidence in the case is practically undisputed," said Attorney General Haven in a brief just filed in the supreme court. "It appears that one Pearson, a young man twenty years old, was employed as Kohn's helper. At the time of the accident Kohn was engaged in sawing a piece of conduit with a hack saw. There was a constant current in them, and there was no switch to turn off the current."

"It appears in evidence that on the day of the accident Kohn left the work temporarily and walked to the end of the shop to get a drink. While he was gone Pearson took down the testing wires and placed them in contact with the hack saw, and said to two of the other employees, 'Watch the Jew get a shock.' Kohn returned to the bench took hold of the pipe and saw, and was electrified. There had been no trouble between Kohn and Pearson and Pearson did not intend to do any harm to Kohn but he wanted to play a joke on him by giving him a shock. The commission found that there was nothing malicious in Pearson's conduct and it also appears in the testimony of Pearson that he played other jokes on Kohn before, but not with the testing wire."

"We realize that it is the general rule, supported by a large number of decisions that injuries to workmen caused by practical joking, skylarking or horseplay, in dependent of and disconnected from the performance of work are not compensable. So, in cases where one workman is trying to knock on the hat of another or is trying to tickle him or trip him, or trip him, or where they toss pieces of wood or wire at each other or where one workman assaults another, and an injury results, it has generally been held that no compensation can be obtained under the Workmen's Compensation Act, as the injury did not arise out of the employment. While this is the general rule, an examination of the decision of the courts have passed upon the question reveals the fact that the same rule is not applicable in each case where a practical joke has contributed to the injury resulting to the employee.

SAYS STATE COUNCIL OF DEFENSE IS A FAILURE

Madison, Wis., May 17.—J. N. Tittlemore, candidate for governor, issued a statement stating that he favors a reorganization of the state council of defense. He maintains that the present council of defense has not succeeded in getting the confidence of the farmers of the state of Wisconsin.

In the last four or five months I have addressed gatherings of farmers in all parts of the state," said Mr. Tittlemore. "I know what they are thinking about and talking about. There is no use in trying to hide facts but the state council of defense does not have the confidence of the farmers. They feel that because of the absence of farmers' point of view in the council that errors in judgment in handling the farmers have been made. They feel that had there been more of the viewpoint of the practical farmer on the council that the errors would not have been committed."

"I shall favor a change in the personnel of the council. This is absolutely necessary to regain the confidence of the farmers. The council now constituted cannot regain its confidence."

"The farmers of Wisconsin are patriotic. They want to do the right thing. Therefore it is absolutely necessary to have a council that can win the greatest amount of co-operation from the farmers."

establish a strong Chamber of Commerce," declared Col. Simmons, "and I have not the slightest doubt but that your efforts are going to meet with great success."

Instructions to the members of the teams was given as to the making out of membership applications, and replies which should be made in answer to questions regarding the future work of the organization.

"Cities all over the country," declared Col. Simmons, "are proving to the satisfaction of a large percentage of their citizens that the great requirement is community co-operation. Some cities, after a struggle, have achieved it, and the outside world has watched with interest. I wonder why their own home towns can not move ahead with the same rapidity."

"As a matter of fact there is no real secret of the success of cities, except as it is expressed in the development of the man and woman power of the community. Natural resources do not make a city, it is the development of the people themselves, and it is a result of unselfish and broad-minded team work."

Janesville has been spending about fourteen cents per inhabitant annually, for the support of its commercial organization. This has not given enough of a working capital to produce the results which you all desire."

"In Elletts, Mich., Toledo, O., Youngstown, O., Milwaukee, Wis., and scores of other cities which might be mentioned, a spirit of real progress has taken hold of the communities, and business interests, and others, who are far-sighted, have given their support to their local Chambers of Commerce, and they have been producing results worth while."

"It is necessary to turn your thoughts to these things, and to repeat to you, that the city which wishes to progress must be industrially, and that it is necessary to awaken a real pride in the city, and to get the people thinking. Chicago is located off the natural course of the big trunk line railroads, but such was the spirit of the city that the railroads had to build into it."

"You have certain wonderful advantages here in the way of transportation facilities, and your surrounding agricultural community is very prosperous. There should be a marked growth in this city, but it will not be likely to come about unless there is definite program of work mapped out as a guide to efforts in the Chamber of Commerce, for the accomplishment of those things which you most desire."

Explanation was given of the plan for the larger business houses, banks and manufacturing interests taking out plural memberships, and the importance of membership to many employed by those concerns. "Women are eligible to membership," where a representation of the various interests of the community is given, so that the Chamber of Commerce becomes truly representative, it is in a position to do things."

There will be eleven teams in the campaign next week in addition to a strong executive committee.

More than one hundred workers have been pledged to work upon teams, and every indication points to securing the 400 members, which is the goal that has been set. "I am confident that you will pass that figure," declared Col. Simmons, in conclusion. Enthusiasm pervaded throughout the meeting. A number of questions were asked by those who wanted to be thoroughly informed, before they undertake the campaign on Monday. The meeting adjourned with every indication of optimism on the part of members of the teams over the outcome of next week's drive.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor:

Under our constitution, every man is entitled to demand the rights accorded by that instrument to every other man.

Under our constitution, every man is under the same obligation to uphold and maintain that instrument and the rights as guaranteed by it to every man alike.

Our constitution is the result of the recognition by every man of the rights of every other man as those rights are determined by the majority of men.

Every man has his rights under it, but there are times when no man has a right to demand that his rights be respected regardless of the rights of other men or of all men. This is one of those times.

"This is no time for men to stand around and insist that their rights under the constitution be respected, in view of the greater necessity now existing."

Especially does it come with poor grace when a man demands his rights under the constitution, while he absolutely and persistently refuses to do a solitary thing in support of that document and the government guaranteed by it, and refuses to be bound by the will of the majority when that majority asserts that the constitution and all that it represents must and shall be upheld regardless of the cost in time, money, or men, and when our entire loyal population supports it and pledges everything it now has or ever expects to have in its defense.

True democracy has less to fear from the outbursts of its outraged voters at such a time, as this than from the insidious influence of those who, while professing great admiration and love for democratic institutions, refuse to lend a helping hand to maintain them.

Whether or not it is more within the spirit of our institutions to remain silent and undisturbed under the malicious accusations against our government as made by those men who refuse to help in this emergency or to give to them well-merited punishment, of whatever kind, may be debatable in the minds of some well-meaning people; but the decision of the question may well be left to men in whose veins runs the blood of those who fought and died to secure the blessings of liberty to themselves and their posterity, men who are giving of their own flesh and blood to the cause of humanity right now, and who are entirely willing to follow their own sons and daughters to the battlefields of France in defense of free institutions. Yellow paint won't hurt, and it may do good. It is the lesser of several well-known evils.

OVER HERE

War Time Rhymes that reflect the love and loyalty of the folks at home.

In this new volume by Edgar A. Guest, he writes with sympathetic understanding of the feelings of men and women toward the war as it affects their homes, their daily lives, and the boys they are giving to their country.

With that touch of human sympathy that makes the whole world kin, Mr. Guest has put into his verse the kindly thoughts and sentiments we all feel and yearn to express with a tenderness and a sincerity that touches the heart.

Every father or mother who has a son "over there" or in the camps—every girl whose sweetheart is a khaki—will find in Over Here a heartening message of hope and good cheer, and a stirring appeal for a greater loyalty in the trying times of the war. If you are a true-blue American, you will enjoy Over Here with its glowing tribute to our soldier boys, and its ringing declaration of faith in our high destinies of our country and our flag.

Bound in Cloth or Khaki—a regular $1.25 book at special price of 85c when three advertisements clipped from the Gazette are presented at this office. Edward Guest's poems appear each day in the Gazette.
